Overview

Sections at Georgia Health Sciences University can be formed to address a particular healthcare need or to recognize a subspecialty within a particular discipline under the following conditions:

- There should be at least two FTE departmental faculty members associated with the program.
- The magnitude of the section’s responsibility in terms of (a) patient care volume, (b) research activities, and (c) educational volume must justify the sectional designation as opposed to a program, function, or service designation.
Process/Procedures

To establish a new section within an academic unit:

1. A recommendation for approval must be submitted to the Dean of the School. Documents supporting the minimum requirements must be included.
2. Upon approval of the Dean, the recommendation must be submitted to the Office of Faculty Affairs for policy review.
3. After approval by the Office of Faculty Affairs, the recommendation is submitted to the President for institutional approval.
4. Approval notification with instructions to proceed will be forwarded to the Dean’s Office.
   A. Appointment of Section Chief must be recommended through the Faculty Action and Approval Process (FAAP). Faculty assigned to the Section Chief may be listed in the justification section of the Action Form recommended by the Section Chief.
